Are you looking for a way to give your Warhammer 40000 Rhino some extra protection? Look no further than these easy-to-follow, ten cent tutorials.

With just a few simple materials, you can create extra armour that will help your Rhino withstand even the most powerful attacks.

Materials

- Thin cardboard
- PVA glue
- Scissors
- Ruler
- Pencil

Instructions

1. Measure and cut a piece of cardboard to the size of the Rhino's hull.
2. Draw a line down the center of the cardboard.
3. Fold the cardboard in half along the line.
4. Unfold the cardboard and apply a thin layer of PVA glue to one side.
5. Fold the cardboard in half again, pressing the glued sides together.
6. Allow the glue to dry completely.
7. Once the glue is dry, cut out the extra armour panels.
8. Apply a thin layer of PVA glue to the back of the armour panels.
9. Attach the armour panels to the Rhino's hull.
10. Allow the glue to dry completely.

Tips

- You can use any type of thin cardboard, but cereal boxes or corrugated cardboard work well.
- Be sure to apply a thin layer of PVA glue to the cardboard before folding it. This will help to keep the armour panels from coming apart.
- Allow the glue to dry completely before cutting out the armour panels. This will help to prevent the panels from tearing.
- You can use a variety of different shapes and sizes for the armour panels. Get creative and experiment to find what works best for you.
- If you want to add extra protection to the Rhino's hull, you can glue multiple layers of cardboard together.

With these easy-to-follow, ten cent tutorials, you can give your Warhammer 40000 Rhino some extra protection that will help it withstand even the most powerful attacks. So what are you waiting for? Get started today!
