Spiritualism's Rise and Flourishing

The spiritualist movement, which gained prominence in the mid-19th century, embraced the belief in spirit communication through mediums. These individuals, known for their exceptional abilities, could allegedly bridge the gap between the living and the deceased.

At Camp Etna, renowned mediums such as Cora L.V. Richmond and Melville D. Landon captivated audiences with their extraordinary demonstrations of clairvoyance, trance, and spirit possession. Their messages from the other side provided solace, guidance, and a glimpse into the mysteries of the afterlife.
